PROPOSES A RACE.

Capt. Lawler Axioms on Tumpt Providence Again.

BOSTON. March 6. Capt. Josiah W. Lawler, who successfully navigated the yawl boat Neverland from New York to the Paris exposition, says he is to have a boat built about fifteen feet over all and twelve-feet keel, and will start from Boston about April 10, to sail across the Atlantic.

He will start from Boston to Liverpool, cross the Atlantic to the Dark Secret, race across the Atlantic from Boston to Land's End to Gravesend, in a similar boat, and return to New York in time to catch the boat to the losing boat or its equivalent in money.

HEAVY DAMAGE

By the Flood in Arizona.

CALIFORNIA. March 6. The damage in the valley of the Colorado flood will amount to $100,000. The loss is principally on the homes of laborers. The San Francisco river has shifted its channel, leaving the bridges over dry land.

CHARGED WITH EMBEZZLEMENT.

A Lawyer Arrested and Arraigned.

BOSTON. March 6. Abel Fathchild, a member of the Suffolk bar, and for the past three years in business in New York, was arraigned before Judge Hardin in the Municipal Court this morning, charged with the embezzlement of $2,000 intended for the payment of his law office, of J. Brewster of Cleveland, O. The case was continued to March 20, bail being placed at $1,000. The prisoner was arrested last night at Westboro, where it is claimed his hide was taken.

INTERESTING COMPLICATIONS

Likely to Arouse in Gov. Hill Makes a Request.

NEW YORK. March 6. A morning paper says that when warrants are issued for the arrest of the officers and directors of the New York, New Haven & Hartford Railroad, the names of those connected with the victim of the engineer's fury in the tunnel accident investigation, peculiar complications may arise.

A majority of the officials reside in Connecticut, and should they be arrested in that state the question of extradition will be interesting to observe the course of Gov. Hill when asking Connecticut to turn over the prisoners to some court within the jurisdiction of the state of New York.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Question of Spiritual Manifestations.

BOSTON. March 6. The Senate's Judicial Committee of the Legislature gave a hearing to-day on the question of spiritual manifestations. A bill has been presented providing for fine and imprisonment for persons who practice such a deluded person or presenting say such manifestations by trick, fraud or contrivance. Several Spiritualists were present who said that a large proportion of the alleged spirit manifestations are fraudulent.

DISTURBED STATE OF TRADE.

All Business Suspended—Great Anxiety Prevails.

Buenos Ayres, March 6. The Argentinian government issued a decree yesterday which suspends business on the bourse, in the custom house, and in the bourse of the day-to-day exchange. The decree is in view of the disturbed state of trade, the financial anxiety prevailing and the general feeling of panic which exists in all circles. The decree approves that days are to be observed to be observed as holidays, but the real reason for the suspension of business is to try to save the Provincial Bank, about which so much has been said recently.

There has been a run on the bank for some time, and it is believed that it did not dare to open its doors to-day. A syndicate composed of 160 merchants has arranged a plan by which they will loan the Argentine government the sum of $20,000,000, consequently the loan of paper money will be made and that the tax of two per cent recently levied on all deposits in private banks will be abolished.

FOR MAYOR

FLAVIUS O. BEAL.

Will Lead to Great Confusion.
(Portland Press.)

There is, we understand, a scheme on foot to tack on an amendment to the Australian bill, making the adoption of the system optional with the towns. It is unnecessary to say that this move emanates from sources unfriendly to the system and is intended to defeat it. As far as we believe in the Australian system, we should rather see the bill defeated altogether than to see it passed with this amendment, which will set up two electoral systems in Maine, and necessarily lead to great confusion. We certainly hope that none of the friends of the bill will listen for a moment to any compromise of this sort.

BRING OUT THE VOTE.

But one day now remains for the Republicans to prepare for Monday's contest and every effort should be made to bring out the full party vote. The caucus Thursday night was a sore disappointment to the opposition. They had not counted on the great gathering of earnest Republicans and already three comments have taken a less boastful tone. It is said that there are Republicans who propose to vote for the Democratic candidate. Was there ever a contest when a similar claim was not put forth? If so we do not now recall it. The Republicans have selected their candidate in one of the largest caucuses ever held in the city and he is entitled to the cordial support of every member of the party. The affairs of the city are in an admirable condition as a result of the prudent and businesslike management of the Republicans. The people cannot afford to lose sight of this fact. A continuance of the Republican party in power means a continuance of this wise and economical administration of the affairs of the city. The loss of one ward means a complete overturn from the top to the bottom in the city officials who have served the city with fidelity, and such a rearrangement of ward lines as will place the Republicans in the minority for years to come. These are important facts for Republicans to consider and they outweigh any mere feeling of personal opposition to this or that candidate on the ticket. The man who bolts his ticket establishes a precedent, which, like a bad penny, is liable to turn up to trouble him when least expected.

The attempt on the part of the Commercial to make it appear that the proposed railroad project would be benefited more by the election of the Democrat than the Republican candidate is a silly subterfuge. It does not have the approval of the leading men in the movement, some of whom have personally assured us that they deplore this ascal for and unwarranted assumption. Mr. Beal has large business interests in Bangor and no man has stronger reasons than he for aiding the building of this new road. If elected, as we fully believe he will be, the Republican candidate will zealously protect and promote every interest of the city.

The nominations in the several wards last evening show that the Republicans propose to present good men and true for service in the City Government. Several of the old members who have faithfully guarded our municipal affairs, go out this year but their successors are men of experience and sound judgment. The ticket is a good one and the Republicans should see to it that it has a large majority when the polls close Monday.

A Virtual Defeat for the Ballot Bill.

The vote in the House yesterday was a tremendous disappointment for the advocates of the Australian ballot. When they first inaugurated this canvass it was vociferously proclaimed that there was practically no opposition to the bill and that it would go through with a large margin to spare. This boastful attitude was maintained until it was found that the original bill would die a sudden death if it ever came before the House. Then it was that this compromise was hatched up and after repeatedly canvassing the House it was positively announced that the majority for the amended bill would certainly reach thirty and Mr. Clason was quoted as authority for the figures. As late as Friday afternoon a more conservative advocate of the bill assured the writer that the motion to substitute the minority for the motion to substitute the majority for the bill would be defeated by a vote of 71 to 71. These figures are significant in more ways than one. They show that the claims put forth about the popular support of this measure have no more foundation in fact than the claim about the alleged tremendous majority in behalf of the bill in the House. Both were merely for the purpose of influencing the votes of the members. The whole force of the argument has been against the bill, and, indeed, if we except perhaps the speech of Judge Savage, there has been very little said in behalf of the measure that reached the dignity of an argument. In the debate Friday the principal speech against the bill was the closing argument by Chairman Peaks, who, in spite of his health took the floor for the purpose of protesting against this legislation. It was an able effort and the forcible logic of his clear cut argument swept away the sophistry of the advocates of the bill even as the mist disappears before the sun. What a splendid galaxy of speakers and able men have championed the cause of the people against this complicated, expensive and unnecessary legislation. It comprised Messrs. Stearns, Harris, Drummond, Harrington, Drew, Porter, Smith and Peaks. Little wonder that the majority so earnestly claimed by the advocates of the bill moved away entirely before the overwhelming arguments of these clear thinkers and eloquent ally as that paper seems to have lost its head entirely on the Australian ballot, as witness my claim about the need of the secret ballot on the subject down to Massachusetts. This will beaten the talk about Burlington. The city has been silent for twenty years, but when the Australian imports for it was forced upon the people the Re publicans stayed with it and a Democratic Mayor is the result. A Republican Legislature should not write this condition in Maine and from present indications does not mean to.

Special Notices.

A Thoughtful Act.

A few days from one of the busier quarters of Boston lived a woman who had been here but a short time. Her husband had been working for a moderate salary. By a fortunate chance he was induced to improve his fortune and became a partner in a firm. The young man caught a severe cold and died suddenly. His wife had no money to pay his debts and turned to her husband's employer for help to conduct her establishment, which she had established with her husband's savings in the money he had received for his son's thoughtless act.

measure in Canada has been attended with unsatisfactory results.

Judge Savage.

Bidburn closed the discussion on the part of the advocates of the bill. He said the members of the Legislature were convened to make new laws and amend old ones where necessary to have them conform to the growing needs and necessities of society. He argued for the bill in detail, claiming that the objections of the opponents were not well founded. There was no doubt but what 700 and twice 700 could vote in one day at a single polling place. The perpetuity of Republican institutions depends upon a free and honest expression of men's opinions at the ballot box.

Representative Peaks, of Dover, closed the debate against the bill in what was in all respects the speech of the day. He began his argument by saying he did not ask or expect the members to accept him as the Moses to lead the party out of the wilderness; that several weeks ago on the floor had attempted to be the Moses of the party and had led it so far into the wilderness that the cheering of the Democratic banner can be heard. He opposed the first bill, which was the Massachusetts law, with this and gave reasons why the friends of the measure found it necessary to change front. He urged the Portland Press on its vacillating course. First it did not want the original bill and then changed and did want it.

He said the argument for the bill was its very, but that for evil deeds the people preferred darkness to light. He alluded to the Governor's remark that better men might be elected under the new system, and said the Governor had twice been elected under the present system, and no one questions the honesty of the verdict. He spoke of the efforts made to secure actions and of Mr. Matthews' statement that thirty thousand laborers demand it and yet only 1 per cent have signed petitions. The same per cent was disengaged in the Rhode Island election. He read extracts from the papers giving results in her State showing them to be bad.

The bill was what the Lewiston paper called "the fact of discrimination" for he called it the trick of discrimination. Mr. Peaks pointed out the unconstitutional nature of the bill as conflicting with section two of the constitution of Maine and stated the Democrats had said openly they could gain by it. His speech was strong in forcible arguments showing the weakness of the bill and the lack of need for it.

The bill will probably not be acted on until the first of the week.

(To Associated Press)

ATLANTA, March 6. The great debate on the Australian ballot bill was resumed today.

Mr. Callahan, of Lewiston, spoke for the bill. He believed it to be a measure entirely needed in the State and at the earnest of pure elections.

Mr. Harris, of East Machias, was opposed to the measure. He did not believe it would accomplish satisfactory results or that it was necessary in this State.

Mr. Drummond, of Portland, spoke against the bill. He declared that the people of Portland, were not in favor of it as represented by the gentleman from Biddeford. He believed the result of the adoption of the measure would be the irretrievable defeat of the Republican party. He believed the spirit of the bill was contrary to the explicit provisions of the state constitution. He did not believe it could be operated in the larger cities without disfranchising many citizens and leaving them without any remedy.

The bill was a copy of the Massachusetts law but was not adapted to the conditions in Maine. He did not know a single prominent Republican in Portland who was in favor of the bill.

Without political knowledge.

The House adjourned till 2 o'clock this afternoon when the debate was resumed.

In the Senate a short session was held, no business of importance being transacted. The members were too much interested in the great debate in the House.

Intense interest is felt in the debate throughout the State. The galleries of the State were packed at the debate to-day. Prominent men from all parts of the State are at the capital watching the contest.

Mr. Porter, of Bangor, spoke against the bill.

Mr. White, of Bangor, favored it.

Mr. Chadbourn, of Biddeford, spoke for the measure.

Mr. Smith, of Falmouth, opposed the measure.

On a yes and no vote the motion of Mr. Stevens, of Caribou, to accept the minority report of the Judiciary Committee that the bill reported by the majority of the committee ought not to pass was lost by a vote of 71 to 71.

THE CANADIAN ELECTION.

SECRETARY Blaine said this morning he had nothing to say in regard to the Canadian election except that there seemed to be an impression in some quarters that President Harrison's administration was interested in the election. As a matter of fact, the administration was not.

Mr. Dewey was introduced and was received with great applause. He said: I trust the advantage of a strong government will be with us in the election.

Mr. Hinckley said: When Christopher Columbus discovered America it took him three months, but it took him half of his life to get a chance to discover it.

Mr. Hinckley said: We are present to give greeting to Republican leaders in the National Congress. We welcome Mr. Reed, (cheer), we welcome Mr. Lodge, and we regret Mr. McKinley is not here. He did not fully appreciate the work he had done.

The Republican party has always won its victories by being aggressive. A bill carrying out the principles of our party will put the American flag on the seas, becomes in the language of the House, a justly.

Mr. Dewey rapped the meeting to order and said: We are present to give greeting to Republican leaders in the National Congress. We welcome Mr. Reed, (cheer), we welcome Mr. Lodge, and we regret Mr. McKinley is not here. He did not fully appreciate the work he had done.
